CHURCH UNION IN SIGHT.

Northern and Southern Presbyterians To Meet.

That there is more than a passing significance attached to the next meeting of the General Assembly in Atlanta, Ga., on May 15 next, at which time there will be represented three of the largest Presbyterian bodies in the United States, is the private opinion of several of the most prominent members of the Presbyterian clergy in the country. It is a well known fact among the members of that denomination that the cause of the cleavage in the Southern Presbyterian Church, and which resulted in its division in the early sixties, was due to the civil war, but it is not so well known that for the past few years there has been an undercurrent at work in these bodies which at the coming General Assembly may bring the Southern Presbyterian Church South of the Potomac rives together again as they were before the war.

At the last General Assembly, which met in Bristol, Tenn. in 1912, it is said there were several of the most influential representatives of the two bodies doing some gumshoe work along these lines, but as the matter had not at that time assumed sufficiently definite shape it was deemed expedient to keep the matter quiet until this year's meeting. The breach, which has never been a very wide one, can, it is reliably stated, be closed entirely if the proper persons and the proper methods are employed, as what is termed as the master stroke was made by the Atlanta entertainment committee in arranging for joint mass-meetings of the three large bodies to be held in the Auditorium each evening during the week, and at which matters of importance to all three will be brought up for discussion and final settlement. It is at one of these meetings that the subject of reunion will in all probability be broached and if it is, states one of the best informed Presbyterian clergymen in Baltimore, " it will be received with a demonstration such as was never witnessed in any similar convention in the country."

The Auditorium in which these meetings will be held is said to be the largest convention hall south of Philadelphia, and with from 8,000 to 10,000 Presbyterians present the scene will be one of the most inspiring ever witnessed under similar circumstances. There will be at least 2,000 ministers and delegates from the Southern Presbyterian Church of the United States of America alone, representing a body of at least 8,000 ministers and 1,500,000 communicants. The Southern Presbyterian Church of the United States South of the Potomac river will have nearly as many delegates present, and with the large delegation that is expected from the American Reformed Presbyterian Synod it is believed there will be upward of 5,000 delegates, both ministers and lay, in Atlanta during that week.

STATE COUNCIL D. R.

A state council of Daughters of America will be instituted in Richmond Wednesday next. Representatives from Alexandria and nearby towns will leave on the train leaving Union Station at 10 o'clock A. M. The institution will be by the national officers.

WORK OF VANDALS.

Autoists of Alexandria have registered a complaint against the practice of some unknown malicious persons who scatter tacks along the pike between this city and Del Ray. Nearly every owner of an automobile in this city has recently picked up tacks along the roads near the city. A number of local autoists have had their tires badly punctured.

CATHOLICS WILL HOLD CONGRESS

Conference Will Meet on Island of Malta Tomorrow.

FOURTH OF THE SERIES

Two Thousand Pilgrims Including Many From America, Will Witness Imposing Ceremonies.

Rome, April 21.—Cardinal Ferrata, papal delegate to the twenty-fourth International Eucharistic Congress of the Catholic Church, sailed from Syracuse, on the southern coast of Sicily, for the historic island of Malta, where the Congress will formally open tomorrow. The cardinal sailed on a British man-of-war, which had been placed at his disposal by the English government, to whom the island of Malta belongs. With his eminence, on board, was also his personal suite, thirty of the leading archbishops and bishops of Italy, a score of prominent Vatican prelates, and several hundred pilgrims.

Simultaneously with the sailing of the war vessel, three ordinary steamships also sailed having on board nearly 2,000 other pilgrims. Still other steamers will sail tomorrow, while two immense pilgrimages one from America and one from England, will arrive in York and London. All in all, the formal opening of the congress tomorrow is expected to be made in the presence of not less than 3,000 pilgrims from all parts of the world, probably the greatest number of foreigners that have been on the little island since the Middle Ages.

The Congress which will last until next Monday, will be the fourth in the series which Pope Pius inaugurated several years ago. The first of these was held at Montreal, Canada, to which His Holiness sent as the papal delegate Cardinal Vannutelli, one of the most distinguished members of the Sacred College. At the second of the series held at Madrid the King of Spain took a prominent part while last year's congress at Vienna was personally participated in by every member of the royal family, from Emperor Franz Josef down, and the papal legate. Cardinal Van Rossum, was lodged in the royal palace

To the Congress which begins tomorrow at Mata a special note of interest of an entrely different character has been added. This is due to the fact that the island has been given serious consideration as a possible solution for the Vatican-Quirinal question.

Several years ago when relations at Rome because seriously strained the English government was even approached on the subject of turning over the island to the Pope as the future seat of the Vatican and as an independent temporal kingdom under the sovereignity of the Popes.

While the matter was dropped at that time, it has been been revived the past year and it is freely admitted in Vatican circles that Pope Pius may have had such a solution in mind when the rather out-of-the-way place was selected by him for this year's congress.

Although Cardinal Ferrata will arrive at Malta late this afternoon, he will not go ashore until tomorrow. He will first be met on board the man-of-war by the dignitaries of the island headed by Auxiliary Bishop of Malta Monsignor Portelli, on behalf of the church, and Sir Joseph Carbone, on behalf of the English government. When the landing is finally made, the entire garrson of the island will line the avenue from the wharf to the episcopal palace, and through this double line of troops his eminence will pass.

For the Congress the English government has placed at the disposal of the church the entire governmental and milltary machinery of the island and by those at Rome who believe Pope Pius stil entertains the idea of finding in Malta a solution of the Vatican-Quirinal question this attitude of the English government is considered most favorable.

A. H. TRIMS RIGGS PREP.

Local Boys Run Wild on Bases and Score 8 Runs to 4 For Visitors.

On Saturday morning the A. H. S. played the team from Riggs Prep. School, at the local park and beat them by an 8 to 4 score. The features of the game was Anderton's pitching, who struck out 12 men, allowing but five hits. Although the A. H. S. did not do much with the stick, they run the game by running wild on the bases, stealing 16 during the game, six of which Nalls stole.

The scoring began in the first frame, when Devers scored on two errors. Raison added another in the second, when with one out he walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Devers' hit In the third sesion, three more were added by Nalls. Anderton and Barnett on hits, a pass, and stolen bases.

The visitors spilled three runs over the pan in the fourth inning on three hits and errors. Up to this time not a man had reached first base for them. They scored again in the sixth when George doubled, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Murphy's fly to Wenzel. This ended the fire works for them as not another man got any further than second base. By some very poor work in the field the visitors alowed the A. H. S. make three runs in the 8th without a hit.

MORGAN'S ESTATE OF $125,000,000

Son of Deceased Will Inherit From $25,000,000 To $50,000,000.

HIS ART TREASURES.

Morgan Not as Opulent as Many Supposed—Other Americans Doubtless Possess as Much.

New York, April 21.—Some months ago a close friend of J. Pierpont Morgan was talking with him and the financier had occason to refer to the amount of his fortune.

"I really cannot say what is is. I do not know." Mr. Morgan admitted.

No indication of the total value of the estate is gven in Mr. Morgan's will, but its provisions bespeak of his knowledge that he could make bequests approximating a total of $25,000,000, including realty.

This total, however, does not include his art treasure, which are believed to be worth $50,000,000. The residue, which goes to his son, J. Pierpont Morgan is variously estimated from $25,000,000 to $50,000,00. This places the estate's total at from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000.

These figures indicate that if the money Mr. Morgan spent for art objects be excluded he was not the immensely rich man that the public gave him credit of being. Several and perhaps many Americans of whom much less is heard posses equal or greater fortunes. But the $50,000,000 devoted to art and his magnificent gifts to charity took from his fortune that much earning power and therefore greatly reduced the total.

Information from authoritative sources has is that the public is assured of participating in the Morgan art treasure because of the determination of Mr. Morgan's son, to whom the collections are left to carry out the wishes of his father to the best of his ability. The will expressed the hope that the collections might go to the public.

Financiers who knew the man describe Mr. Morgan as a man who attached little importance to the mere acquisition of wealth. They aver that his interest centered in the activities of brain required in financial achievements whch won for him world-wide recognition, and that the money which accrued was of secondary importance. The control exercised by Mr. Morgan in financial affairs in this and in foreign countries was based less on the weight of his money than on the strength of his individuality.

He controlled voting trusts in which he had a comparatvely small ownership. The opinion has been expressed since his death that his ownership was less than 10 per cent of the properties over which he exercised almost absolute control.

NEW FUNERAL EQUIPPAGE.

W. Demaine & Son Have Up-to-Date Hearess And Ambulance.

W. Demaine & Son, funeral directors of this city have added three new and modern vehicles to their accoutrements for funerals. They have recently received from Cincinnati two hearses which are pronounced handsome specimens of that line of vehicles. One is silver grey and the other black. There are no silk or cloth curtains but the representations of draperies are hand-carved wood, as well as the columns. After a casket is placed in the vehicle the funeral attendant presses a button in order to signal the driver to proceed. The lamps on the front of the hearses are beautiful specimens of design and workmanship.

In addition to the hearses the Messrs. Demaine have also received a modern undertaker's combination ambulance. This is also another fine specimen of the carriage maker's handiwork. A sanitary feature in connection with this vehicle meets a long felt want. It has ventilation and privacy and can be used to transport casket and flowers and can be converted into an ambulance.

The new hearses will be brought into requisition at the dual funeral of A. B. and Charles A. Travers in Alexandria county tomorrow.

WILL INVESTIGATE ATTACK ON SIMS

Charge of Contempt of Congress Will be Made This Afternoon.

FIRST TIME SINCE 1832.

Committee Will Ask That Glover be Proceeded Against For Attack on Member.

Washington, April 21.—Five members of the House of Representatives were appoited today by Speaker Clark to examine into the facts of the episode in which Charles C. Glover president of the Riggs National Bank, slapped the face of Representative Sims of Tennessee. The appointment of this committee followed the introduction of a resolution of the highest privilege presented by Representative Garrett of Tennessee, who defended the resolution with vigor, and who said that a swift investigation to presen this facts in official form is necessary in view of the fact that Mr. Sims himself hesitates to inform the House that he was assaulted by the banker.

There was but one voice raised in opposition to the resolution. Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, spoke disparagingly of the fact that the resolution was based on "mere newspaper rumor." Several members assured Mr. Cooper that the mere newspaper rumor was quite worth while investigating.

The only question which seemed to be raised concerning the form of the resolution was whether the House cannot proceed immediately to take action without an investigation. It was finally agreed that the Garrett resolution is a most dignified and and proper form of inquiry.

The committee which must report by Saturday, is composed of Representatives Davis of West Virginia, Covington. of Maryland, Crisp, of Georgia, Prouty, of Iowa, and Nelson, of Wisconsin.

Just before the convening of the House, Congressmen Garrett, Houston, Sherley, and other friends of the attacked Tennesseean went into a final conference to draft teh unusual resolution.

It had been decided that a committee shall be appointed to recommend to the House its method of producre n the proposed arraignment and trial of Glover before the bar of the House. The adoption of the Garrett resolution and the report of the select committee after its appointment will set the stage for the trial, which there has been no exact precedent since 1832.

The House from time to time has conducted contempt hearings—although none of them has been of recent date—but the case of Houston and Stanberry in 1832, is the nearest approach in detail to the Glover-Sims fracas. Houston was arraigned, tried and reprimanded for striking Congressman Stanberry because of words the latter used in debate on the floor.

There is no decision of the Supreme Court—at least for the past fifty years—on the exact powers of the House to punish for contempt, although such decisions as exist are inclined to hold that the house has plenary powers. The Glover-Sims case probably will reach the highest tribunal through writ of habeas corpus proceedings, if the House orders the arrest of the millionaire assailant of the Tennessee member.

PRAISES ALEXANDRIA

"By the passage of the ordinance by your City Council prohibiting the showing of scenes of crime in moving pictures, Alexandria has taken a stand far in advance of the great majority of small cities in the United States and is on a plane with the few larger cities which have seen the danger that comes from the permitting of all sorts of pictures to be shown regardless of the effect upon young people.

This statement was made yesterday by Miss Kate Davis, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., president of the National Legal Regulation League, which has for its purpose the passage of municipal and State as well as Federal laws for a stricter censorship of the character of the reels shown in the moving pictures theaters throughout the United States, and who has made investigations of moving picture conditions in every section of the country.

Miss Davis, was one of the delegates to the National Council of Women and is a guest of Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett.

Miss Davis called attention to the fact that within the past six weeks two Washington boys, 11 years old, the other 7, have figured in shooting in which the sister of one and the brother of the other narrowly escaped death.

Both boys have declared that they were moved to their acts by the influence of the melodramatic films they had seen in local moving picture theaters.

While playing the part of a bandit as he had seen such a character depicted on the screen of a moving picture theater, 7-year-old Reginald Smith shot his 8-year-old brother, Raymond, in their home, 206 Ninth street northeast, last Saturday. Raymond is in the Casualty Hospital with a bullet in his lung. It is expected he will recover.

Repeating a scene he had seen portrayed in a motion picture show in which a husband shot and killed an unfaithful wife, Russell W. Lowrey, 11 years old, shot his 9-year-old sister, Aline, in the playroom of their home, 209 C street northwest, early in the evening of March 9 last. As a result Aline lost her right arm.

"A visit to the moving picture shows in any town where they are not rigidly censored will convince the most skeptical that every act of a criminal and depraved nature is shown in almost living form and in all its subtle and ugly detail" sad Miss Davis. "At one show in my own city of Wilkes-Barre, previous to the rigid censorship now enforced there, I saw a hold-up, a murder, a hanging, a lynching, a near-lynching, and two suicides. Life is held too cheaply in the moving picture theaters.

"The moving picture show is bad only because it is not properly safeguarded. We need a uniform censorship of motion pictures. Many sociological workers regard the moving picture proposition as the most important problem of the times. Eight million people in the United States pay to see these moving pictures every day in the week. Fifteen thousand motion picture theaters hold this daily horde of film lovers. In New York city 400,000 school children visit the moving picture theaters daily. In the making and housng of these moving pictures $100,000,000 is invested.

"The moving picture show is here to stay. We need it both for its educational possibilities and as a low-priced means for recreation and entertainment. Instead of destroying character it should be made a character builder for our boys and girls."

FEAST OF PASSOVER.

Services in Synagogue on North Washington Street Tonight.

The Jewish Feast of Pasoever, which begins this evening, is the most joyous festival in the Hebrew calendar. Theobservance of this feast is enjoined in the Bible in commemoration of the deliverance of the children of Israel from Egypt.

Mr. B. Weil will conduct the services in the synagogue in this city at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

One of the pecularities of the Hebrew calendar is that the day is reckoned with sundown of the day before in accordance with the Biblical scheme of creation. "And it was evening and it was morning" Hence, while the Feast of Passover begins this evening, the first day of the festival is tomorrow, according to the Hebrew date, Nissan 15th.

After the services in the syngogue in this city a Seder will be given for the benefit of the Sunday school and members of the congregation.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

VIRGINIANS IN CAMP.

Well-Dressed Young Couple Spend Honeymoon in a Tent.

Princeton, W. Va., April 21.—Encamped on the mountainside in a tent near here are Mr. and Mrs. George Bendrick, a refined, educated and well dressed couple of apparently good families who are said to have eloped and are camping out until the husband can earn money enough to go to houseeeping. The girl as apparently not over 19 yetars of age and there is much mystery connected with their presence here, as both are very reticent. The young husband has a position as timekeeper in the coal mines.

It is said they eloped from a Virginia city, and that their parents refused to forgive them, and they were forced to embark on their honeymoon in a tent. Both were dressed in the height of fashion on their arrival.

BOMB EXPLODES IN AUTO.

Dynamite Goes Off at F. H. Ball's Home in Williamsburg, Va.

Williamsburg, Va., April 21.—An explosion which awakened people a mile away and created fear that a local ban was being dynamited, occurred at the home of Fred H. Ball, general manager the Piedmont and Tidewater Land Co., one-half mile east of Williamsburg, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning. An investigation showed that a bomb had been placed in the bottom of Mr. Ball's automobile, which stood close to the rear of his ne wresidence occupied by himself wife and baby for the first time last night.

Windows in the residence were broken. Bloodhounds were rushed from Newport News to the scene of the crime, but too many people had been in the neighborhood and threw the dogs off the scent. Detectixes are at work on the case.

CARDINAL SHUT OUT.

Departmental League Team Have No Trouble in Defeateing Cardinals by Score of 6 to 0.

Captain Bob Murphy, of the strong Agricultural team of the department League led his clerks and farmers ball players to a victory over the strong Cardinals by the score of 6 to 0.

The team which represents the farmers in this game is fastest and best team that has ever visited this city and should lead the way in the race for the pennant in their league.

Little can be said about this gamb as the Cardinals, although not outclassed, showed their need of practice, and unless Coach Burgendine gets his men to working out more than one game will be lost.

Wells Burgendine and Risdon pitched for the Cardinals and deserved a better fate but errors by Scrivener made at critical moments while the heavy hitters of the Aggies drove the ball to all corners of the lot.

Eddimeiss Owen and Bailey twirled good game allowing only five scattered hits and was upheld by the whole team in a creditable manner.

MISSION BROUGHT TO CLOSE.

Concluding Service at St. Mary's Church Held Last Night.

One of the largest congregations of men that ever attended a service at St. Mary's Catholic Church was in attendance last night at the concluding services of the mission which has been in progress for the past two weeks by the Fedemptionists Fathers.

At the conclusion of the services the papal benediction or the blessing of the sovereign pontiff which the missionary is empowered to extend on the occasion of a mission was given.

There was a special mass at eight o'clock this morning which was offered as a fiift of the missionaries for the deceased relatives and friends of those who have made the mission a success. An appropriate sermon on the suffering souls in purgatory was reached.

TO MAKE COMBINE.

Cattle Growers Will Unite in Fight on Tariff.

The party of cattlemen from southwestern Virginia called at the White House a few days ago, after havng arranged an appointment in an effort to have President Wilson use his influence to change the wool, fresh beef and live stock schedules of the Underwood tariff bill so as to have the duties on these articles lowered gradually by six-month periods to enable them to accommodate their business to the changed conditions without suffering financial injury.

President Wilson explained to the party that the appointment had been arranged in such haste that he would not be able to grant the committee a hearing as to their wishes in the matter, owing to the fact that other appointments made previously would occupy his time. He greeted the party most cordially, but did not discuss the tariff situation with them. The committee calledupon several other members of the Virginia delegation, and as many members of the ways and means committee as possible. During the afternoon it was arranged that they should return home and draw up papers showing the effect of placing of wool and dressed beef of the free list would have on their industry, and return to Washington in about two weeks, and combine their fight with that of the men of the southewestern grazing states, who will also be here then.

ANOTHER BOMB OUTRAGE.

Second Attempt in Thre e Years is Made to Wreck Building.

New York, April 21.—The second attempt in the last three years to destroy the Pocasset Club, a Tammany organzation, occurred early today, when a bomb, exploding in the basement, wrecked the basement and first floor, threw club members on the fourth floor of the building off their feet, and shattered the glass in all the building within a few minutes after hundred feet.

Every window in the three upper stories of the Central Hotel was smashed. The glass memorial windows of the Grace Emmanue l Protestant Episcopal Church were ruined.

Detectives and police rushed to the building withn a few moments after the explosion, but found no clue to the bomb thrower. The bomb was of the "machine type," and set off by either a fuse or clock.

The previous attempt to destroy the same clubhouse was also by means of a bomb, but the mechanism then failed to work. Former Sheriff Nicholas Hayes is the Tammany leader in the district and makes the Pocasset Club his headquarters. Officials of the club refused to give opnions at to possible motive for the deed, though the police say they attribute it to a political feud.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alterative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alterative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows:—

718 Cherry St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1905, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alterative. In the fall of 1905, I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

STREET ORGANS MUST GO.

Norfolk City Court Imposes Prohibitive Tax on Hurdy-Gurdies.

Norfolk, V., April 21.—Several city Councilmen have been approached by itinerant musicans, organ grinders and the like, urging them to prevent the city from imposing the prohibitive tax of $100 per year upon them which they say, will drive them out of business. This is proposed in the ordinance imposing taxes, which was before the joint session last Tuesday night. The present license is $2 a week, which the melody dispensers say they are willing and able to pay, but the $100, is is too much, they add.

In the meeting on Tuesday night W. W. Old opened the discussion against this tax, and, although he spoke eloquently and long, as did Mr. McCaskey, the city fathers sat back in their chairs,and laughed. They ordained that the hurdy-gurdy must go.

"I don't know whether any of you gentlemen know it or not," said Mr. Old" but my soul is musically attuned, and I can say that I enjoy the sweet strains of this street music. When I hear that beautiful melody, "Silver Threads Among the Gold" served from the itinerant musician of the streets it makes my heart glad, and I feel joyous, in my soul. Don't impose this unreasonable tax on the hand organs. Remember the little school children who dance and play in the sunshine of this music. There has been many a cloud dispelled and many a load of sorrow lightened by the poor musician of the street."

Somebody snickered.

Then it was all off. Mr. Mitchel said he couldn't see any sentiment in the music of the street organ or very much melody, and that the ordinance committee is preparing an ordinance that will drive these folks out of the city altogether. If Mr. Old could find strains of rapture in "Silver Threads Among the Gold," he said, it was more than overbalanced by the tinpanny, rendition of "Everybody's Doing It," which has by this time ceased to be melodious.

Somebody else snickered.

Mr. Johnson, he of the Finance Committee, who has helped the from hand tax, took the sentiment, music tenderness and sunshine out of the whole shooting match when he said that these street musicians were an onerous and penurious set, who gathered in their shekels and then left town. He said that the finance committee had been appealed to by some of the leading Italian citizens of Norfolk, who wanted the street musicians taxed heavily, because, they argued, the women go into the barrooms and other places and cause undue aspersions to be cast upon the Italian colony.

When it was put to a vote the organ grinders lost, and now Norfolk will be sadder for the absence of its music of the streets.

Died From His Injuries.

Staunton, Va., April 21.—Nearly a year after an automobile accident, which was ultimately fatal, Dr. J. Fred Bell, of near this place, died last night, having been an invalid since last August.

While returning home late at night his machine mysteriously turned turtle, pinning him beneath it. The young man's skull was fractured and he had since been afflicted with brain trouble.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN'S FIRM RELIGIOUS FAITH.

There is an erroneous impression among many disciples of Jesus Christ that the kingdom of heaven is necessarily barred against a rich man. Most of such take their stand on the colloquy between the rich young ruler and the Great Teacher, and, refusing to examine the words of the evangelist, draw conclusions cruel and unfounded. The young man, born rich through no fault of his own, was as much concerned about his future as the man who first saw the light of day in a hovel. He asked, in an humble manner, to be directed into the path of eternal life and his question was answered. He was told to keep the commandants, and he, doubtless from his inward conscience, answered that he had. He, however, seemed to desire to go to his ne plus ultra—or, in other words, to do something beyond simply inheriting immortality— and was told if he would be perfect, to sell what he had and give to the poor and take up his cross. We are told, he went away sorrowful, having great possessions. But the words, "And Jesus looking upon him, loved him," should not be passed over hurriedly.

A Philadelphia preacher a few days ago closed the gates of Paradise to J. Pierpont Morgan because he had great possessions. This minister carried no x-rays and he has no idea whatever of the spritual yearnings of the late financier, who, though great, humbly bowed to his Creator.

Clergymen of all denominations in different parts of the country comment favorably on the opening sentence in the will of the late capitalist.

I commit my soul into the hands of my saviour, in full confidence that having redeemed it and washed it in His most precious blood, He will present it faultless before the throne of my Heavenly Father; and I entreat my children to maintain and defend, at all hazard and at any cost of personal sacrifice, the blessed doctrine of the complete atonement for sin through the blood of Jesus Christ, once offered and through that alone.

"Mr. Morgan meant every word of that," said Bishop John G. Murray in Baltmore last night. "It was in keeping with his life. I met him on several occasions and had a chance to observe his conduct. Money was not the only thing he strove for in this life. The acquisition of it was not hs chief end. He was as much a factor for good in the church as he was in the financial world.

"I have seen him at church conventions. He would be punctual always at the meetings. He occupied his seat at the opening and remained until the end of the day's business. He loved his church and lived up to it.

"He was a man of simple faith. He had in mind when he wrote that sentence the fact that a man of affairs could do as much in the exercise of Christian faith as in wordly pursuits."

Solomon in the last chapter of the Book of Ecclesiastes after having basked in riches and voluptuousness throughout most of his life showed the unsatisfactory conditions which follow rich and poor from the cradle to the grave. He says, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter; Fear God and keep his commandants; for this is the whole duty of man."

WORLD FAVORS THE OPEN CAUCUS.

The New York World commenting on the open caucus which was proposed by Congressman Carlin of this city, says:

"In adopting the open caucus the Republicans of the house have made the most of the opportunity which the Democrats recently neglected. They are entitled to the credit of having taken the lead in a reform of which the purpose is to do away with secrecy in party conferences on matters of legislation and policy. The course they have chosen calls for praise. Voluntary publicity is good evidence of frankness and honesty of intention.

'In spite of their reluctance sooner or later the Democrats must follow the Republicans' example. They cannot evade their own responsibility to the public by saying that what a minority party does and discusss in its caucus makes no real difference since it has not the power to control the legislation and action of the House. Because they are in control is the very best reason why the Democratic majority should accept the open caucus as a matter of party principle."

CLUB WOMEN INVITED.

Members of Cameron Club Asked to Attend Federation Sessions.

All the members of the Cameron Club of Alexandria are entitled to attend all the sessions of the Federation of Women Clubs which is now meeting in Washington including the reception. Applicaton should be made at the headquarters at the Hotel Raleigh for a badge which will admit all members.

The meeting will be opened tonight at the New National Museum, when a paper will be read on "Housing Reform," by Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon. Rev. Henry N. Couden chaplain of the House of Representatives, will formally open the meeting with an invocation. This will be followed by the singing of "America" by Mrs Clayton E. Emig, chairman of the music committee. Address of welcome will then be delivered in the order named by Mrs. Wiliam E. Andrews, president of the District Federation; Mrs. W. M. Ellicott, presdent of the board of District Commissioners.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, president general of the federation, will make the response. This will be followed by two vocal solos by Mrs. W. H. Shircliff and Mrs. William T. Read. Mrs. Fellows then will deliver her address.

At the conclusion of this there will be a reception in the asembly room of the Raleigh under the auspices of the District Federation. Miss Wilson, daughter of th President, is expected to attend.

Tomorrow is considered to be the biggest day of the convention. After the reports of the officers and chairmen of committees and departments to the general federation are read there will be addresses by Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan and Mrs. Frances Squire Potter. At 12:30 there will be a committee meeting of the trustees of the endowment fund, and a reception at the White House from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock. The delegates will return to their headquarters, where various matters relating to work of the meeting will be taken up and discussed. There will be a night session at the National Museum in the evening.

CONTINUES TO IMPROVE.

Pope to be Kept in Bed For Some Time to Come.

Rome, April 21.—For the first time since his first relapse, the physicians to Pope Pius X issued no bulletin on his condition today, saying that the Pontiff was now regarded by them as safely convalescent.

The Pope passed a good night. His sleep was light, but so was natural, unbroken and continued until 4 a. m. After that hour he awoke at short intervals, asking that a window be opened. Another time he sat up in bed in spite of his attendants, saying he could not breathe lying down.

Throughout Sunday the Pontiff was noticably better. His temperature rose in the afternoon, but there was no fever. The chief task now, of his attendants and relatives is to keep the Pope quiet an in bed.

MAMMY'S LI'L BLACK VIRGINIA COON.

When the summer moon is rising high,
At the door-way of the cabin near the river's winding way
You can hear an old black mammy lullaby.
As she sits and rocks her baby in the early summer's night,
You can hear the negroes chanting far away,
And your thoughts are sweet and tranquil, and your heart is glad and bright,
And you listen while old mammy croons this lay:

"Close yo' eyes and go to sleep, mah honey baby,
Mammy's li'l black Virginia coon,
Can't you hear de katydids a-singin' to you,
San' man's gwine to git you mighty soon,
Don't you listen to dem nigguhs shufflin'
In de meadow 'neath de yallub harves' moon,
Put yo' head down on mah, breast shet yo' eyes an' go to rest,

TELEPHONE ETIQUETTE.

(Communicated.)

Thus the English language defines the word upon which our mutual associations and relations are based. How many of us can boast of a clear knowledge of all that this little word implies when used in the proper connection?

How many of us who profess to live a "polite life" really stop to consider whether we are successful or not? It is like the old saying that a man who shows extraordinary affection for his wife in public scolds her when they are alone. So it is with most of us in our politeness towards one another. When it is to our advantage we can be all that is desired but caught of four guard and in a perturbed frame of mind, we usually do not make the effort, although the person to whom we are speaking meets us more than half way.

It would seem that innocent people should not be made to suffer through this negligence on our part, yet that is exactly what happens when we forget the password of our etiquette, civility.

Perhaps no other body of people suffer from our carelessness more than the telephone companies and particularly the operators whose duty and pleasure it is to answer every one in a pleasant and businesslike manner. How many of you have seen this little heroine, for heroines some of them certainly are, at her work.

Perhaps we have a vague idea of her duties, but it is not fair to her or her business to form any definite idea until we have seen for ourselves the working of the wonderful machine which requires her attention and vigilance 60 minutes in every hour.

How many of us answer our telephones as soon as we hear its bell ring? Do we stop to finish the task in hand before we open the door which leads to the greatest highway in the world? We would not keep friends waiting on our doorstep so why keep them waiting on the telephone. Often it is to our advantage to answer promptly but usually do not learn this except through bitter experience. Is this etiquette? No, and furthermore it is bad business. How often in taking up the receiver we are greeted with the meaningless little word "Hello." Why not save our breath? It always calls forth additional questions leading to the identification of the party who is calling us. Why not help your neighbor or your customer by saying "This is Mr. Smith who is this speaking?" It begins the conversation in a pleasant and businesslike manner and puts your customers in an agreeable frame of mind.

We hear much these days about conservation, efficiency an deconomy relating to the great resources of our country. We are proud of these undertakings and believe in them. Why not apply the same doctrine in our homes and daily intercourse with our neighbors and fellow citizens. Let us try to prevent the needless lack of human consideration and plug up every leak with a word of intelligence and thoughtfulness for the person we cannot see but hear very distinctly.

And let us remember that if we would not be thought ignorant of the meaning of telephone etiquette we will not listen on the line to our neighbor's conversation and possibly prevent an important call for the doctor or telegraph office.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Rev. Father Hughes, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, at Mankato, Minn. has procured a temporary restraining order against the president of the school board of that pace to stop the reading of the Bible and other so-called religious exercises in the high school. Customs and usages of the orthodox evangelical churches enter into the exercises, and the King James version of the Bible, which is not accepted by the Roman Catholic Church, is read, acording to the complaint.

That there is no biblical foundation for the story of the final day of judgment was declared by Professor Paul Haupt, of Johns Hopkins University, in an address Friday before the American Philosophical Society, in Philadelphia. "The Book of Zechariah, which Jews as well as Christians give as authority for the description of the last judgment," he said, 'refers merely to a municipal plan for municipal improvements laid out by the Maccabees. The poetic and fanciful language of the scriptural scribes has been misinterpreted." The speaker also declared that Beelzebub had been described by the ancients as "the father of flies, not lies, as the modern horror of those germ-carrying insects was shared in biblical times.

Twenty-five babies came to Omaha on the wings of the Easter cyclone, and 25 Omaha men and women will claim the distinction of a mighty disturbance of the elements having heralded their birthday their coming having been accelerated by the shock of the tornado. Complete outfits for the infants, as well as for their mothers, were sent out by the baby department of the relief committee.

Blaine Massey, a boy, charged with killing Policeman James Keister, was acquitted by a jury at Princeton, W. Va. He pleaded self-defense. The policeman took a cow for which the lad was caring away from the boy. After words, the policeman knocked Massey down and beat him. The boy ran home pursued by the policeman, who was warned not to enter the house. The officer drew his gun and started in the house and Massey killed him. The argument arose over the ordinance prohibiting cows from running at large in the streets of the city.

Mrs. H. B. Warner, wife of H. B. Warner, the actor now appearing in the leading role of Warren Jarvis, the Kentucky feudist, in "The Ghost Breaker," at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, and for four seasons the star in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," was killed yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident on Merrick road about a half mile west of Seaford, L. I. The actor, who was in the auto with his wife, escaped almost miraculously without serious injury and was able to return to the city last night.

Treatment of the teeth of criminals as a means of preventing crime is being tried in the Boston jail under direction of Sheriff Quinn. The sheriff has had a dentist's chair installed in the prison and has employed a skilled practitioner to fill or otherwise treat the defective teeth of the prisoners. "A bad tooth" said the sheriff often lands a man in jail. A large number of crimes are committed by people who are badly nourished. Malnutrition leads to morbid mental thought, which results in crime. A dentists' chair and a good dentist in every correctional institution will prevent hundreds of immates fro mreturning again, once they are free. "The dentist's chair is an accessory in that direction."

After a burglar hunt which had furnished an exciting climax to a small dinner party in the home of his cousin, at 1654 Monroe street, northwest, Washington, Martin Siebold, 22 years old the only child of Louis Siebold a New York newspaper man, last night accidentally shot himself in the head, and died three hours and fifteen minutes later in the Emergency Hospital.

Sixty militant Industrial Workers of the World arrived in Grand Junction Colorado. Led by Jack McDonald "martyr" of San Diego, they marched to police headquarters, where they demanded food. It was denied them. Sixteen of them then went to a restaurant, where they ordered a plentiful meal, for which they refused to pay. The proprietor called the police and special deputies arrived at the restaurant before the Industrial Workers of the World had left. With drawn revolvers the deputies forced payments for the dinner. Citizens tonight are organizing posses to drive the visitors from the city in the morning.

After she and her children had been threatened with death, Mrs. John Guilla 35, shot her husband a miner, to death in Wyano, Pa., Saturday night. The woman and her daughter, Katherine, aged 12, say Guilla came home intoxicated and after breaking furniture, threatened to slaughter his family. Carrying a baby, Mrs. Guilla fled to a bed room and seized a revolver. As her husband was about to spring upon her, the woman fired. A bullet went through Guilla's heart and he fell dead. The police arrested Mrs. Guilla. She and her children, Katherine, Cecil, aged 5, and the baby were placed in the county jail.

Herman Coppes, whose mentality is so low that at 16 years of age he has only been able to advance to the fourth grade in school, yesterday confessed that he was the slayer of Mrs Maury Sleep and her two small children, whose bodies were found Saturday in a cistern under the kitchen of the Slee farm house, 5 miles west of Elgin, Ill. Coppes says the killing resulted from Mrs. Sleep saying she "would see about it," when he had refused in ill humor to do one of his accustomed chores after school

With two women laughing at him as he vainly pleaded for life, Vito Pucilato, 37 years old, was slowly tortured to death early yesterday in a dark alleyway leading to the cellar of 194 Chrystie street, New York, in the center of a block whose history of murders and bomb explosions is of the blacket. When the police came to examine the man's body after it had been found by an assistant janitor there, it was found that he had been stabbed thirteen times. His murderers fled leaving the stilletto buried in his heart. On one cheek was a semi-circular wound—the mark of the enmity of a Black Hand band. The two women were heard to laugh as though well pleased, several times. It ended with the sound of a falling body. Then one woman said in English: "We had better be getting away

The belief among peasants, of Slav countries that upon the eve of the Jewish feast of the Passover the Jews offer a Christian child as a sacrifice led to the murded in Pitt St. on the lower East Side, New York last night. A frantic mother, believing that her husband had sold their child for sacrifical purposes killed him with a club. The passover began tonight and for several days parents who have inherited that old idea of the Jews offering a Christian child as a sacrifice, have been keeping a close watch on their children. Among them was Mrs. Valeria Waschkiewitch.

The automobile bandits, Monier Callemin, and Soudy, were guillotined at 4:35 o'clock yesterday morning in Paris. The execution of all three took less than four and one half minutes.

LOVE-SICK; MAKES DIVE.

Expected to be Killed, But Escape Injury.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 21.—Crazed because a girl with whom he is infatuated would not encourage his attentions, Charles J. Patten, 23 years old, made a spectacular but unsuccessful attempt to end his life Friday. Standing on the top of the bridge which carried 25th street over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks along Callowhill street Patton waited until he saw the approach of an express freight train and then dived.

The demented man miscalculated the speed of the train, and instead of being ground beneath the wheels of the engine he landed on the top of the engine cab. The sound of the fall was heard by the engineer, Joseph Kelly, and a moment later Patton was dragged from his perilous position. The patrol of the Ninth street was summoned and the man was taken to Hahnemann Hospital, where he was found to be uninjured. Later he was taken to the Philadelphia Hospital, where an examination will be made into his sanity.

LIGHTNING HUNTS MAN.

York, PPa., April 21.—Lightning hunted 12 miles to find a victim, after striking a telephone wire at Gettysburg during a brief electrical storm.

At Hanover, G. A. Leach, a lineman for the Bell Company, was strapped by his safety belt to the top of a pole. He was holding one wire and another was pressed against his body, forming a circuit.

The lightning came along and knocked him into a state of unconsciousness, and he would have fallen to his death, had not the belt held him until he recovered and was able to descend. It was not until some hours later that the cause of his unpleasant experience was learned.

John E. W. Wayman, former State's attorney for Cook county Illinois fired two bullets into his body at his residence yesterday. The cause ascribed was a nervous breakdown due to ill health. He may recover. For several weeks his physicians had warned him that unless he quit work entirely he would undoubtedly die.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF RESIDUE.

Trustee's sale of the residue of the "Belvoir" or "White House' tract of land, located in Mt. Vernon Magisterial District, Fairfax County, Va., containing approximately 1100 acres with improvements.

By virtue of the authority vested in us by the will of Philip Otterback, deceased, and under decree of the Circuit Court of Fairfax county, Va., in the suit of Otterback vs. Bohrer, at its March term, 1913, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the Royal Street entrance to the Market House in Alexandria, Virginia, at

This tract, the old home of Lord Fairfax and separated from George Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, by Dogue Creek, originally consisted of approximateely twenty-seven hundred (2,700) acres, of which 1,500 acres has been taken by the United States Government for a school of Equitation or Horsemanship. The balance between ten and twelve hundred acres consists of valuable farming lands and about eight hundred (800) acres of valuable timber. It has a large deep water frontage on the Potomac river as well as a large frontage on Dogue Creek, with valuable fishing shores. The property is improved by the old mansion house, familiarly known for many years as the "White House," a club house, barns, stables, out-buildings and tenant houses. It is situated on the county road between Mt. Vernon and Accotink and is about four miles by road from Mt. Vernon. This property is one of the most historic in the section and would make a very desirable country estate because of its location and the opportunities afforded for fishing and shooting.

Terms of Sale:—One-third cash and residue in 3 equal annual payments at one, two and three years from the date of the confirmation of the sale with interest from the said date of the confirmation of sale at the rate of six per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually, with right to anticipate the time of paying the deferred payments, secured by retention of title till paid.
